AUTO DISPUTE SETTLEMENT SEEN

TEST VOTE ON STATE INCOME TAX AWAITED

Ohio's Lawmakers Go Home to Ascertain Sentiment.

VOTE NEXT WEEK

Senate Attitude Appears to be Against Proposal.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 24 — Ohio's lawmakers went home today to find out what the folks think of the state income tax which is headed for a test vote in the house next week.

Senate sentiment appeared to be against the measure, the possible proceeds of which are a matter of dispute, ranging from $16,000,000 to $25,000,000.

The income tax is the base of the house taxation committee program which seeks $50,000,000 or more revenues to finance school aid and other state functions next year without adoption of a general sales tax.

It reached the house under an ill augury, however, the defeat of another committee program bill to increase tangible personnel property assessments, which had been estimated productive of a little over $4,000,000 annually. The latter measure lacked 23 votes on a roll call. Reconsideration will be attempted next week.

School Aid Bill Pruned

The only committee program bill which so far has received approval is the one to increase utility excise taxes one per cent except for interurban railroads, and two per cent on gross revenues above $100,000 of gas and telephone companies.

The $43,000,000 school aid measure passed by the senate, received some pruning in the house committee. First it ordered a kindergarten aid provision stricken out. Then it handed the bill to a subcommittee with instructions that the $27 senate figure for elementary pupil aid be boosted to $30.60 and the $40.50 figure for high school students be increased to $45. Another order was that the mandatory 3.25 mills levy on real property be eliminated.

Recess Over Week-End

Two new taxation bills dropped into the house hopper. Representative John Carey (D) of Lucas county would tax dog racing and Representative Al Kalb (D) of Ottawa county would tax interurban railroads wealthy enough to pay dividends.

Another bill, proposed by Representative E. Ray Hummel (D) of Fairfield county, would make the teachers' retirement fund a teacher-supported fund only, allowing school districts to cease contributions to it.

The senate, which quit a day earlier after adopting the school measure, will return Monday night. The house will not come back until Tuesday.

Boy and Woman Are Critically Injured When Struck By Autos

David Roberts, 10, Suffers Fractured Skull; Mrs. Mary Eckert's Foot Amputated.

A boy and a woman are in a critical condition in the City hospital today, suffering from injuries received Friday night when they were struck by automobiles. The driver of one failed to stop.

They are:

DAVID ROBERTS, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Roberts of 724 Daisy alley; fractured skull.

MRS. MARY ECKERT, 62, of 2202 Harvey avenue, East End; left foot amputated and bruises to fore head.

Roberts was struck by an automobile driven by Robert Foutts of Glenmoor, Friday at 10:30 p. m., when he started across East Sixth street after leaving a theater, while Mrs. Eckert was run down by a hit-skip motorist while walking along Harvey avenue near her home at 9 p. m.

Young Roberts, unconscious, was later identified by his father who was sent to the hospital by police when he reported the boy had failed to appear at home at midnight.

TWO HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Crack Union Pacific Flyer Derailed in Wyoming.

By The Associated Press.

RAWLINS, Wyo., March 24.—Two enginemen were injured and an undetermined number of passengers were slightly hurt and shaken up when the locomotive and eight coaches of the crack Union Pacific passenge. train, the Portland Rose, plunged off the rails 30 miles east of here late last night.

The derailment hurled the engine on its side and upended several coaches.

B. W. Richmond, Laramie, engineer of the train, suffered body bruises and a possible rib fracture. J. A. White, also of Laramie, the fireman, was cut on the head. Both were treated at a hospital here.

The train was the first section of the westbound flyer which operates between Chicago and Portland, Ore. Following it were the second section and a local passenger train.

All the passengers of the first section, officials said, including those hurt, were placed aboard the two other trains which were routed around the wreck on the eastbound line.

The cause of the wreck was not determined.

Former Local Athlete, O. S. U. Freshman Coach Will Address Fellowship Dinner Monday.

About 70 young men are expected to attend the fellowship dinner to be held at the Y. M. C. A. banquet hall Monday at 6 p. m., under the auspices of the young men's clubs of the "Y," when Richard Larkins, former local high school and Ohio State football star and now Freshman coach at O. U. S., will speak.

Larkins will discuss "Football at Ohio State," and will show motion pictures of games in which O. S. U. played during the 1933 football season.

Organizations sponsoring the supper include the Y-Indus, Phalanx and "33" clubs.

2,500 Attend Three Lions' Club Benefits

About 2,500 persons attended three radio vaudeville programs, presented at the high school auditorium Friday afternoon and night by Honey Boy and Sassafras and other KDKA artists, under the auspices of the Lions club, to raise funds for blind relief work in the schools.

About 2,000 school children attended the two matinees during the afternoon. Prior to the evening entertainment, a brief talk was given by Attorney Harry Brokaw, explaining the purpose of the program.

Insull Ship Believed Near Island of Rhodes

By The Associated Press.

ATHENS, March 24.—Ships at Piraeus, the port of Athens, reported today that code messages from Samuel Insull's floating haven, the freighter Maiotis, had been picked up by radio, and officers of the vessels guessed that the vessel's position was near the Island of Rhodes, about 250 miles from here, apparently awaiting instructions.

40 MERCHANTS HIT SALES TAX

County Meeting Here Urges Adoption of Lazarus Plan.

Adoption of the Lazarus plan as a substitute for the proposed sales tax in Ohio, was advocated by 40 Columbiana county business men at a meeting Friday in the Chamber of Commerce rooms here.

Merchants from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem, East Palestine, Salineville, Lisbon and Columbiana expressed opposition to a sales tax in any form.

Consolidation of state, county and city offices, as provided in the Lazarus plan, were favored by the merchants as a means of reducing expenses of government and avoiding the necessity of a sales tax measure. The collection of delinquent taxes, another provision of the Lazarus plan, was urged.

Secretary H. B. Barth of the Chamber of Commerce, who arranged the meeting, said today that the merchants who attended the session would call all the business men of their respective communities together next week to explain the action here.

Petitions asking customers to protest a proposed sales tax will be placed in the county's larger mercantile establishments.

TWO COURTHOUSE JOBS AWARDED

Salem Hardware Company, Heim & Heim Low Bidders for Plumbing, Water Systems.

The Salem Hardware company and the Heim & Heim company of Lisbon were awarded contracts for plumbing and water system, respectively, in the remodeling of the Columbiana county court house when bids were opened Friday at Lisbon. There were nine bidders for each job.

The Salem firm's bid was $1,102.09, while the Heim & Heim proposal of $1,137.63, was low for the water system job by $1.40.

REPAIR WATER LINE BREAKS

Service-Safety Director George B. Imbrie, has assigned a force of men today to repairing two breaks in the water line in Virgin alley, near Third street in Wellsville. Another group was engaged in similar work in Clark avenue near 25th street.

"Gen." Coxey, Nearly 80, Fights 40 Years After March of "Army"

Ohioan, Aiming for Senate, Sees CWA and PWA, as Duplicating His Proposals.

By The Associated Press.

MASSILLON, O., March 24.—Strike clouds much like those of the present hovered over the country 40 years ago today as a ragged band of 75 men, nucleus of "Coxey's army," assembled here to start on the morrow its famous march on Washington.

Now nearly 80 years old, "General" Jacob S. Coxey looks back and smiles with what seems a mixture of triumph and bitterness.

Rebuffs and ridicule have left few marks on the still hale and hearty general, and in this, his home town, he has had the satisfaction of serving a term as mayor. He also has been a nominee for president, running as a Farmer-Labor candidate in 1932, and now he is aiming for the senate.

Coxey was riding in a carriage when his tiny army began its march that stormy Easter Sunday 40 years ago. Only 36 days later he was lodged in a Washington jail, charged with trespassing on the grass.

The march to Washington had stirred nation-wide interest and for a time the Capital City worried so much that troops were ordered to stand ready for action.

"The wicked flee when no man pursueth," Coxey commented.

Although his words quieted the capital's alarm, many policemen were on hand when Coxey's army, swelled to 236 men, entered the city.

The police again were on hand when the "general" tried to speak from the steps of the capitol, and while his army milled around. Coxey was hauled away and sentenced to 20 days in jail. By the time he was released his army had left the city.

Coxey's principal motive was to urge upon congress the issuance of small denomination, non-interest bearing bonds for projects, especially road-building, to relieve the nation's unemployed.

14 MEN DIE, 80 INJURED IN VIRGINIA FIRE

Flames Sweep Bureau For Transients at Lynchburg.

GREASE BLAMED

Flames Ignite Wooden Ceiling; 200 Persons In Building.

By The Associated Press.

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 24.—Fourteen persons were burned to death and at least 80 others were injured in a fire that swept the Federal Transient bureau here shortly before dawn today. Three of the dead were Negroes and the rest were white.

The bodies, some of them charred apparently beyond hope of recognition, were carried to Lynchburg undertaking establishments while the injured were carried to two hospitals in every available ambulance, hearse, truck and private car.

Half of Injured White.

One hospital where 70 patients had been admitted reported that possibly one-third of them were seriously burned, although the full extent of the injuries had not been determined several hours after the targedy.

Seventy of the victims, approximately half of them white and the rest Negroes were taken to Lynchburg hospital in every conveyance available and 14 Negroes were carried to Virginia Baptist hospital. Power facilities were cut off at Memorial hospital by the fire and this institution was unable to help in the emergency treatment.

Grease boiling over on a hot stove was blamed for the fire—the worst remembered in Lynchburg's history. William Rash, the cook, said he had begun preparing breakfast for the estimated 200 occupants of the building when the grease boiled over on the stove and quickly set fire to the building.

Flames Ignite Wooden Ceiling

Rash said the grease from which he was to have made gravy was in a five-gallon kettle. It blazed up upon touching the hot surface of the stove. Immediately the kettle was in a blaze and the fire, shooting upward, ignited the wooden ceiling.

The cook said he grabbed a bucket of water and dashed it on the blaze. This did no good. He then emptied two fire extinguishers without effect.

Meanwhile Rash's assistant, C. H. Fizer and the night watchman James Webb turned in the alarm.

Panic-stricken Men Jump

Two stories above the fire, sleeping in cots only a few feet apart, lay 200 men — the white transients in one section of the double buildings and the Negroes in the part nearest Twelfth street. At that time the fire was making headway in the basement.

At the first call of "fire" the men became panic stricken. A high board wall surrounded the windows of their sleeping quarters and the men began tearing this down to leap into the street.

Some dived to the street, 15 feet below. Others clung to the window sills and dropped.

Policemen reported seeing some of the men clinging to trolley wires before they fell. All those who jumped were badly hurt. Many had broken legs and arms in addition to burns they had sustained.

The injured included: Roy Hassion, Mark Center, Ohio; William Can Bidder, Gloucester, Ohio; James Forrester, Cincinnati; Herbert Masin, Talcott, W. Va., Negro; Walter De Long, Hinton, W. Va., Negro; William Mase, Bower, W. Va., Negro; Lewis Colby, Cleveland, Negro.

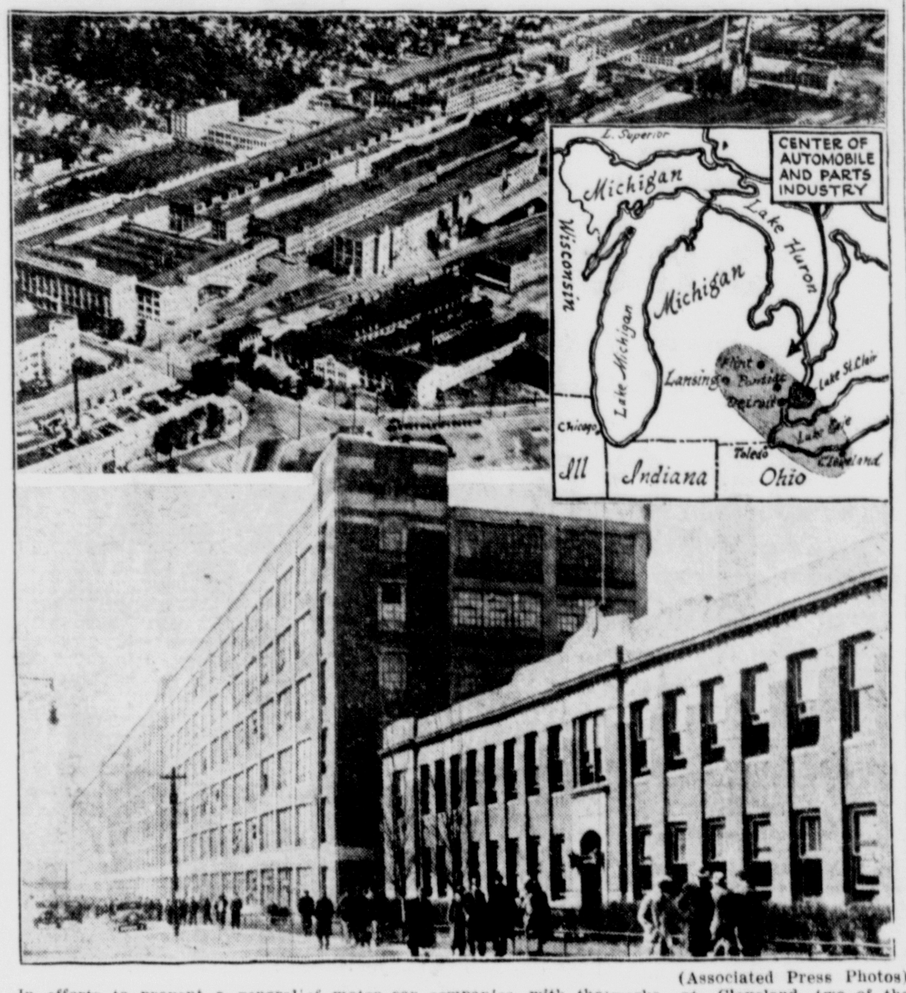
AUTO CAPITAL, LABOR NEAR PEACE



(Associated Press Photos)

In efforts to prevent a general strike in the automobile industry, President Roosevelt has tried to reach a compromise in conferences with labor leaders and executives of motor car companies, with the result an agreement is expected today. Above is shown an air view of the Buick plant at Flint, Mich., and below is the Fisher body works at Cleveland, two of the plants which would be affected if a strike materialized. AIRMAIL BILL O.K. PREDICTED

McKellar-Black Plan Faces Debate in Senate.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 24. — Chairman McKellar of the senate postoffice committee predicted today that his revised permanent airmail bill would be reported favorably to the senate in the next few days.

The bill, understood to contain modifications recommended by the administration, was offered in the senate yesterday by both McKellar and Chairman Black of the airmail investigating committee.

It was considered significant that this step came soon after an airmail conference by the President, Attorney General Cummings and officials of the post office and commerce departments the day before.

Charge of "Whitewash" Made

Although several drastic provision of the original bill are somewhat softened, and former mail carriers would not be required to drop claims against the government before bidding again, the new measure retains many of the clauses which have aroused controversy in the committee. Sharp debate is assured when it reaches the senate floor.

A charge of "whitewash" was plastered today by Representative McFarlane (D. Tex.) on the report of a house investigating committee which found naval airplane profits to be moderate and recommended no changes in procedure. The Texan spoke as he prepared a minority report on the naval subcommittee's study in the navy's airplane purchases since 1926.

McFarlane charged that both the army and navy departments "knowingly" violated "the clear mandate of congress in purchasing their equipment" without competitive bidding.

Job Insurance Urged

The task of enacting a job insurance plan against future economic slumps was added today to the growing congressional warsheet.

President Roosevelt was specific in directing the job done. He said, first, that such legislation would fulfill a promise made in the last Democratic party platform.

Secondly, he declared sound the general principals of the Wagner-Lewis bill. A ways and means subcommittee promptly resumed hearings today on this measure.

In a letter to Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee the chief executive wrote that while unemployment insurance alone would not make unnecessary the other relief for the future jobless he believed it would act as a stabilizing device to retard economic crises.

The first big industrialist to be heard by the sub-committee—Gerard Swope, president of General Electric — opposed the bill and criticized the proposed five per cent federal tax on businesses employing more than 10 persons.

MIDLAND MILL PAYS $125,000

Largest Payroll in Three Years at Steel City.

Approximately 1,000 employes of the Midland plant of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company, Friday, received pay checks that totaled more than $125,000. Plant officials said it was the largest payroll in three years.

Monday will be payday at the Treadwell Construction company and the McIntosh-Hemphill foundry in Midland.

Crucible chiefs said that the plant was working at about 42 per cent capacity, with five open hearth furnaces in operation.

TWO CHILDREN HURT

Two children were treated at the City hospital Friday afternoon for injuries. Paul Bolby, 5, received bruises and lacerations to his right arm when it was caught in a wringer. John Rhone, 3, of 611 West Ninth street, was treated for lacerations received when he fell from a high chair.

1 DIES, 12 HURT IN BUS WRECK

Motor Stage Overturns In Sandhills of California.

By The Associated Press.

YUMA, Ariz., March 24. — One person was reported killed and at least 12 injured today when an eastbound Greyhound trans-continental motor bus overturned in the sandhills of California, 18 miles west of here.

There were reported to be 28 passengers in the bus which left Los Angeles yesterday.

Torfirio Mendez, riding from Brawley, Calif., to Phoenix, Ariz., was one of the first taken from the bus. He suffered head and shoulder injuries.

Mendez said that just before the accident, the driver exchanged seats with a "cadet driver" and when they started to pass a car he "overshot the embankment."

No one could get out until a tourist came along and pried open a door of the twisted wreckage.

He will assume his duties at Euclid with the Palm Sunday services.

Lowry Plans Work Relief in Rural Areas of County in April

County Administrator Awaits Instructions to Place Families on Farm Tracts.

Administrator E. M. Lowry at Lisbon today prepared to make a survey of Columbiana county in keeping with Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins' plan to provide work relief in rural areas after April 1, when the civil works administration will be terminated.

Lowry said he was awaiting further instructions from State Relief Administrator Major E. O. Braught of Columbus relative to the program calling for placing families on plats of ground, where they could sustain themselves, in towns of less than 5,000 population. There are about 2,500 "stranded families" in Columbiana county, Lowry indicated.

Hopkins Asks Report

Hopkins has also directed state administrators to prepare not later than April 10 plans for further carrying out this program, The Associated Press said:

He asked reports on the proposed method of obtaining houses and land for displaced farmers; arrangement for garden and feed crop plots for destitute farmers who have obtained houses; proposed methods of furnishing cows, chickens and pigs; types of projects to provide supplementary income; types of projects to provide income for destitute persons living within towns who are unable to obtain land or sufficient employment to meet their needs, and an outline of the organization and administration necessary to put the program into effect.

He informed the state administrations that where work is given the prevailing wage must be paid but it must not be less than 30 cents an hour. Working hours shall not be more than 24 a week or less than 54 a month.

He also told the administrators any person having available land who did not plant a home garden should not receive any relief.

BOARD TO PASS ON GRIEVANCES IS APPROVED

Manufacturers Charge Labor Seeks Dominant Position.

PEACE EXPECTED

Non-discrimination Pledge With Union Lists Predicted.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 24. — Automobile manufacturers conferring with administration officials in an effort to prevent a strike in the industry, issued a statement today saying they had agreed to appointment of an impartial board to pass on labor grievances but they charged again that the labor unions intended to obtain a dominant position.

Despite the statement, administration officials expected a settlement of the dispute within a few hours.

The manufacturers spoke in reply to reports that settlement of the strike depended on willingness of the management to let the government check the union membership claims with payrolls and say whether they are correct.

Industry Chiefs Define Stand

"If that is the only remaining issue," the statement said, "let there be no misunderstanding as to what it means.

"It means that the union refuses to tell the manufacturers whom the union represents. It wants the right to act for employes without disclosing their authority from them. It is like a lawyer saying to you, 'I have a client who is suing you. I won't tell you who it is, but I will bargain for him.'

"No outside agency can check the union claims against the payroll, can come to any fair decision without disclosing the names to the manufacturers.

"The unions' refusal to say whom it represents is just another indication of its purpose to dominate industry."

Deny Discrimination Claims

"All the unions would have to do is to coerce men into signing union applications," the statement continued.

"The public should know that this refusal on the part of the union to say whom the union represents is the same issue of union domination in another form.

"The union said that if it tells the manufacturers whom it represents, there will be discrimination against union members. On the contrary the manufacturers have agreed to an impartial board to pass on any cases of alleged discrimination and to have its findings reviewed by a board created by NRA. Thus, there is no warrant for the unions' claims that there will be discrimination."

Observers held the opinion that the last paragraph strongly suggested the basis for agreement would avoid the holding of elections in the plants at this time and instead would involve submission of union lists to both the government and the manufacturers under an absolute pledge of non-discrimination against the men whose names would thus be revealed.

Officials, however, refused to say that this was the basis of the plan they were trying to put through.

Labor Reaffirms Position

Meanwhile, William Collins, union representative, reaffirmed the position of the labor delegates in an informal statement to newspaper men. He said the union does have lists of its membership and will give them to the government but not to the manufacturers.

"The manufacturers have lost sight of the fact," Collins said, "that the unions have given a list of their membership or have one available for any government representative who may be decided upon to represent the government.

"In view of the general policy in the past and the present of automobile manufacturers of discrimination against any union or truly representative collective bargaining delegate, the position of the union is that a government representative alone has a right to the list."

Rail Peace Also Expected

There was apparently high hope within the administration, also, that the end of the railroad wage row was approaching an end.

Mediator Joseph B. Eastman, the federal coordinator of transportation, said the rail managers would meet the union spokesmen again today to seek an end of the controversy.

Mayor-elect Taylor To Leave Hospital

PSALM SINGER IN EAST END

U. P. Church Will Hear Jesse P. Robertson Tuesday.

Jesse Phillips Robertson of Long Island City, N. Y., "singer of psalms," who spent many years in the Holy land gathering historical facts and religious symbols, will present a sacred concert in the Second United Presbyterian church in St. George and Mulberry streets, East End, Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. He will be introduced by the pastor, Rev. Frederick J. Lenk.

Mr. Robertson was formerly a grand opera baritone and his intensive Bible study has placed him foremost among interpreters of the ancient songs of Zion. He is making a tour of the country, and his appearance here will be sponsored by the junior and senior choirs of the church.

Featuring his songs will be accompaniments on the loud-sounding cymbals, tinkling cymbals, silver trumpet and timbrel, used during King David's reign. They will be demonstrated in a musical program.

Articles collected in the Holy land will be exhibited, among which are: Sackcloth and ashes, shepherd's sling, sling stones from the Valley of Elah, and the traditional rod and staff.

While Mr. Robertson carries the curved shepherd staff, it was explained the curved rod often associated with shepherd life is fiction in Palestine. Instead, the shepherd carries a light stick made of river reed or a heavy cudgel of oak. He is garbed in the native costume at all services.

EXTEND 3 EAST END REVIVALS

Services Next Week in Penn Avenue M. E., Christian, Free Methodist Churches.

Revival services will be continued next week by three East End churches. They are: The Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal, Second Christian and Oakland Free Methodist.

Rev. E. R. Reed and Rev. Koch are conducting the meetings in the Penn Avenue and Christian churches, of which they are the respective pastors, while Rev. William Grafton, pastor of the Weirton, W. Va., church, is occupying the Oakland pulpit.

Each will preach at the morning and night services Sunday. Rev. Koch has listed the following subjects: 11 a. m.: "The Coming of the King;" 7:30 p. m., "Life's Eventide."

SECOND U. P. TO MARK HOLY WEEK

Services Each Night in East End Edifice; Rev. Lenk Will Preach.

Passion week services will be observed in the Second United Presbyterian church in St. George and Mulberry street, East End, each night next week at 7:30, Rev. F. J. Lenk, the pastor, announced today.

Beginning Monday, Rev. Lenk will preach expository sermons on the last week of Christ's ministry. Jesse Phillips Robertson, the "singer of psalms" will be in the church Tuesday night, while the pastor will resume his discourses Wednesday.

Holy Communion will be distributed Easter Sunday at 11 a. m. The sacrament of baptism will be administered and new members received.

The annual congregational meeting will be held Wednesday, April 4, at 7:30 p. m.

LISBON SQUAD GIVEN LETTERS

Cage Team Members Awarded "L"s by Bickle.

After the chapel program Wednesday, Coach Bickle of the Lisbon high school presented members of the basketball team with their letters for the "34" season. The varsity squad were given the usual blue "L"s with service bars. Those receiving varsity letters were: Ralph Vanaman, who has four service bars on his letter; Bob Smith, Abie Prasco, Paul Alexander, and Howard Gilbert, who each have two service bars; Bob Cameron, Russ Gabriel, Bill Miller, Bob Brooks, and Eddie James who are all one bar men.

The reserves received white "L"s with blue "R"s on the lower bar. Those receiving these were: Paul Ward, "Red" Gintz, William Felton, Nick Muntean, George Nace, Niles Pettay and Vito Rubino.

Robert Steele was given a manager's letter for his three year's service in that capacity.

The Lisbon Junior high school chapel program Wednesday morning announced by Marjorie Galloway, was as follows: Song, "Old Folks at Home," class; piano solo, Betty Hughes; piano solo, Marion Northup; Scripture and Lord's Prayer, Alice Crowell; "Long, Long Ago," assembly.

The Lisbon 8A Literary program Friday afternoon featured two plays. The first, "Hasty Opinions," with Dolores Bailey, Mary Battalio, and Clara Bilsky; the second, "The Lamp Went Out," with Bud Opincar, James McGoogan, Alta Reeder, Mary Arnoto, and Walter Yochim taking the character rolls.

The Sophomore class of the Lisbon high school presented the chapel program Wednesday morning. The program, announced by Ruth Ann Leonard, opened by the assembly singing "America." The scripture was read and the prayer lead by Paul Kuhns, after which the students sang "A Merry Life."

Prof. Arthur Wise entertained with a trumpet solo, "Bride of the Waves," followed by "Gypsy Love Song." He was accompanied on the piano by Alpheus Arter. Two humorous readings were given by Olive Mae Bean, "Widder Budd," and "Grandma Pays the Bill."

The program closed with the student body singing "Old Black Joe."

At the student council meeting Tuesday it was decided to sponsor a softball league, to be made up of boys from all four classes who have not gone out for track. Each class will have its own team, and the games will be run of at Kelly's field on a schedule to be announced later.

It was also decided to amend the council's constitution to the effect that student council will meet every other Tuesday at 3:30 p. m.

Representatives from Muskingum College and also from Bethany College visited the Lisbon high school this week to interest seniors in those colleges.

Two years ago Fay Neal, Frances Davis and Leroy Neal, were appointed drum majors for the Lisbon high school band. Leroy graduated in the class of "32", Fay in the class of "33", and since then Frances Davis has continued to lead the band on formal occasions. A call has been made to all those interested in this position. They should notify Arthur Wise and appear for tryouts which will be made in the near future.

Lorene Gunn has been absent from the Lisbon high school for the past few weeks undergoing an operation for appendicitis in the East Liverpool hospital.

Two new Sousaphones have arrived, with the third one on the way, for the Lisbon high school band. These instruments have been a very much needed part of the band for the last few years.

From time to time, Professor Arthur Wise hopes to add to the variety of instruments needed by the band.

Investment

Ohio is willing to spend $2,000,00 to get $22,000,000. This is the real significance of the legislature's decision to appropriate $2,000,000 as its share of the cost of the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy district's flood control project.

Unfortunately, willingness to make such an investment is not enough. Unless special revenue legislation is enacted to raise the money, it will have to be drawn from an already depleted general fund. Its subtraction from the fund, obviously, would mean it would have to be replaced.

Otherwise, the investment is sound enough. The federal government's share of the expense will be drawn from federal taxation on future generations. Whether or not one agrees with this practice, it is necessary to realize that Ohio will bear part of the burden of the credit that is being distributed and is obligated, therefore, to get its share.

The fact that Ohio finds itself in this situation with no positive assurance that it can raise its share of the project's cost should be a sharp prod to those citizens in Columbus who are trying to build an adequate program for 1935. Expediency prompted them to make an appropriation. But the appropriation must be backed up with income to make it mean anything.

Time

It is acknowledged openly that President Roosevelt does not intend to overlook the factor of time in dealing with the automobile industry's threatened strike. The climax of a dispute is a poor time to pass judgment.

One important fact is still missing in the evidence on the controversy. The American Federation of Labor claims it represents a majority of workers in the automobile industry. This claim is questionable. Nothing but a thorough election so managed that neither faction can charge dishonesty if defeated will clear up the point.

Neither the employers who are resisting the federation nor the federation's organizers stand to lose anything by subscribing to a truce of sufficient duration to throw the situation into perspective. It is probable that when there has been sufficient time to reveal all the pertinent facts both sides will find it easier to relent from their present arbitrary positions for the sake of reaching a compromise.

Former Editor

Alfred E. Smith has joined the well filled ranks of former editors. After a year and a half of guiding the editoral destinies of The New Outlook he has fallen back on the worn excuse that other business forces him to resign.

His decision is a signal for the mills of speculation to start to grind. Why did he find it impossible to continue? Is he yielding to the pressure of other business voluntarily or because it was suggested that the New Outlook could do better with another editor?

Facts are few, but they are sound. Under Editor Smith the magazine has not chosen to castigate President Roosevelt for his error in handling the air mail situation. At the same time, the magazine's publisher, Frank A. Tichenor, was permitting another magazine under his owners to handle the administration without gloves in its critical comments. Publisher Tichenor is a Republican.

In the background is the fact that Mr. Smith's prestige as a social oracle has not increased in the last year and a half. There are many who say that he has been a disappointment to people who formerly trusted him. This is more an accident of circumstances than the result of any deliberate action, undoubtedly, but it does not add to the happy warrior's luster as a leader of popular thought.

These things are, however, speculative. As Mr. Smith retires from his editorial desk, it is more appropriate to recall the things that were said when he first sat down at it. It was anticipated then that Americans would benefit from reading the opinions of a man who had established himself as a natural leader. They have not been disappointed. As much as any one man has been able to do, Mr. Smith has provided second thought on administrative policies during the last year.

To An Unsung Hero

Penny-pinchers in American city government have been few and far between. So rare is the type, in fact, that its influence has been negligible.

But new conditions make new heroes. The penny-pincher, crowded almost to extinction by the flourishing expansiveness of the tax spenders in the post-war decade, is finding himself these days in a more favorable environment.

In that dizzy decade taxes poured into government treasuries in a golden torrent. It was easier to find new uses for income than to reduce tax rates. Politicians were equal to the task set them. They spent every cent available—and more.

They used up the income running government. They mortgaged the future building improvements. While the future could be shoved back, everything was perfect. But now the future is here. The mortgage is due.

Most municipalities face the same problem. Before they can start using tax dollars for operating expenses, they must take out a substantial portion of it for debt service. When they have added to that portion the delinquency of taxpayers whose resources have been exhausted, they find that there isn't enough money left for operating expenses.

Fortunately, the problem is so simple that everybody can see the answer. First of all, the free spender must be dethroned and the penny-pincher permitted to rule in his place. Economy must be made more than a device for pulling votes; it must be made a hard and fast policy.

It isn't easy to change old habits. The penny-pincher still labors in obscurity, but he is coming into his own. Taxpayers are beginning to realize that he is their champion. To be sure, he still is without honor in Washington, where the rate of spending is increasing and the future is still being mortgaged, but in local government he is gaining a following. More power to him.

Japanese Tragedy

The almost complete destruction of the Japanese city Hakodate is another reminder to dwellers in safer regions that Japan's territorial ambition has its roots in necessity.

Fire, which destroyed four-fifths of the city, is an universal hazard, of course. But it was not fire unaided which caused destruction. It fed itself on the flimsy dwellings of a people who have learned by experience that it is easier to rebuild after earthquakes and tornadoes if their investment is small.

Before it had run its course, fire was joined by a freezing gale and snow. Thousands of people driven from their homes were in danger of freezing to death. As has happened so many times before in Japan, catastrophe mustered all the forces of nature to do its gruesome work.

Knowledge of their insecurity has given the Japanese an animus of expansion which Americans, secure in their vast continuous territory, scarcely can comprehend. The destruction of Hakodate, bringing death and danger to the doorsteps of 150,000 crowded people, will add to the common desire for territory in which future generations may live in greater safety.

If I Had A Million . . .

What happens when great wealth comes to a person of humble means? Not on the motion picture screen, that is, but in real life.

An unusually forceful answer is being given at this very moment in France where seven persons, all poor and respectable, each won 5,000,000 francs in the national lottery inaugurated last autumn to help out the taxspenders.

There is the barber of Tarascon. A man skilled at his trade, he quit his job when wealth came his way. Hounded constantly by friends and interviewers, he has become shy as a gazelle. He has started a new business with responsibilities increased many times and moved into a villa.

There was a young coal heaver in Avignon. His wife was a stenographer. He used to work all day and sit in some cafe of an evening chatting with his friends. When he got his 5,000,000 francs he became an easy mark for his assumed friends and avaricious tradesmen. When he tried to hold on to his money, people shouted "Miser" at him. He is preparing to leave Avignon and take up residence somewhere else.

The stories of the others are much the same. Friends have turned to enemies and enemies have become more vicious. Routines have been upset. Those who thanked heaven for their good fortune have become suspicious, bitter and more worried about the future than they were before.

This is not a preachment on the text of "Let not the shoemaker rise above his last." It is an argument against lotteries, which make possible unnatural accumulations of wealth.

Wealth gradually gathered by honest effort instills a sense of responsibility for its care and assumes the presence of enough acumen to frustrate the predatory malefactor. Sudden wealth, attractive as it may seem from the economic milieu, has no good effect on anybody. Too often it brings nothing but sorrow and a horde of sharp dealers on the lookout for easy money.

HIS BODY MORE SENSITIVE THAN HIS FEELINGS.

By J. H. GALBRAITH,
Written for The Associated Press.

The earliest recorded cases of the administration of justice at Chillicothe indicates that with the lower class of criminals, corporal punishment was regarded as to be avoided rather than personal humiliation. It was in 1797 that a settler in the place named Brannon stole a great coat and other clothing and with his wife fled from the place. They were caught, however, and it was decided to give them a formal trial. The man was found guilty and the judge decided his punishment should be ten lashes laid on his bare back, or that he should be mounted on a bare pack-saddle on his own pony, and that his wife, who was believed to have had a part in the theft, should lead the pony to the door of every cabin in town where she should shout out: "This is the man who stole the great coat, etc." With these laternative punishments offered, the convicted man chose the latter.

Mrs. Manley's Pet Hen

Mrs. Ida Manley of Hagerstown, Md., observed with concern that her pet hen was depressed, would not eat, and, with Mrs. Manley, to worry is to act. She laid the hen on her back, cut open the crop with a razor blade, fished around with a buttonhook, brought out a rubber band that had caused the trouble, sewed the cut up with a needle and thread. The hen seemed grateful, and ate.

Prominent income tax payers in the United States know exactly how that hen felt. And their plight is sadder; nobody sews them up; the exploring goes on.

How Eve Was Made

A western gentleman wants a divorce because his wife "is always fault-finding, and gives extravagant tips to waiters, bribing flunkies to bow and scrape for her." Men have constantly complained about women. Thus you read in the ancient Jewish writing, "Midrash:"

"Eve was not created from the head of Adam, lest she should be vain, nor from his eyes, lest she should be wanton, nor from his mouth, lest she should be given to gossiping, nor from his ears, lest she should be an eavesdropper, nor from his hands lest she should be meddlesome, nor from his feet, lest she should be a gadabout, nor from his heart, lest she should be jealous. She was drawn from man's rib, which is a hidden part, so that she might be modest and retiring. And yet, notwithstanding all the precautions taken by the Creator, woman has all the faults God wished her to guard against."

Some day, women will write their own "Midrash," pointing out some things about man, including the fact that the Lord, appropriately made him out of mud, an origin that often comes out in his character. Women have had to little to do with the important writings.

In Montesquieu's "Persian Letters," he allows the favorite in a Mohammedan prince's harem to create her own Mohammedan heaven. She makes it quite different from Mohammed's idea. Husbands are kept out.

Standing 20 years ago at the foot of the Andes in South America, looking at a lone condor flying above the highest peak, you might have said:

"That realm of the air will be his forever."

Had anybody suggested that a woman would soon fly over those mountains, higher than any condor ever went, you would have smiled, pityingly.

Miss Laura Ingalls of New York has just flown over the Andes alone, looking down on the dark backs of the surprised condors, not up at their white underside. And we take that for granted, only four lines in the newspaper about it. Two other women, one French and one German, were ahead of Miss Ingalls.

New York Day By Day

NEW YORK, March 24.—This time of year everybody is twittery with the ipuses. The gait of the caged bear looking for escape. Young men hurl themselves into the new cause. Old Boys nicker and write snappy letters that they may be read to 12 perfect strangers. Girls affect a coiffure revealing their ears, and simper.

Grandmas sneak off for a few sly lessons in the rhumba. Imagined splendors pop into humdrum lives. Today I was thinking of a black-braided tan suit of English whipcord with a billiard-table green vest and a pearl bowler. Every Spring I want to let go this way. The sartorial taste of Sitting Bull's widow!

But I have to content myself with some modest Roy W. Howard pattern, remindful of the blanket on last year's Derby winner. And a tie that is not red enough by six deep dips. Today, in the Ritz Foyer, I noticed a sprig flirting back his hair and twitching his tie before a mirror.

Later, when he came into the coffee room with a slinky stunner suggesting Elizabeth Young, his lapel flowered with a gardenia. This time of year uncoils that sort of technique. I've been wanting to meet the lady who runs that avenue charm school and ask her to project her personality once for me. I love to collect samples.

Speaking of escape, Roscoe Peacock has been reading Elsie Robinson's fine serialization in Cosmopolitan, "I Wanted Out." As prince of correctors he wonders about the title. Once, locked in a room, he beat upon the door and shouted "I want out! I want out!" A Britisher with oracular finality of judgment corrected him saying: "You mean you want to get out; it isn't 'out' you want." A solecism or localism I do not know. But when I beat upon a door I want out!

The Boston at intervals arouses the household at night by standing in center of the bedroom giving a perfect imitation of a donkey's bray. It is a night-marish exhibition over which he is bewildered while slowly awakening. When company comes further to shame him I intone: "To the left of the curio hall we have Fiji, the one legged camel. On the right Hinny, the Hee-Haw, half dog, half donkey, etc." He's stone deaf but he suspects some sort of kidding and goes off in a corner, squats on one haunch and looks pensive.

Dennis King, in magnificent voice and portraying a swashbuckling role, has swept back into the popularity he enjoyed before his long absence from the New York stage. In the cycle of romantic rotation, maids again thrill to doublets and hose, golden wigs, God's bloods oaths and the spark of rapiers.

* * * *

The last of Broadway's romanticists to me was the morose and tight-lipped gambler, Arnold Rothstein. He looked upon its denizens with the suspicions they deserved, sitting with his back to the wall in case of a dust-up in public places. He justified this distrust when he was pistoled to death after being trapped in a hotel room by a mysterious telephone call. He played a dangerous game every moment, knew it and refused to name the assassins who mortally wounded him. A wicked fellow, full of deceits, he lived with a long lost bravado, hard and dangerously. Today Broadway is in hands of the milksops.

Washington And Wall Street

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 24. — When anyone extends a hand across the seas these days, it is customary to look in his sleeve for chisels.

The Japanese have big sleeves. Our state department skeptics looked into them thoroughly after Japanese Foreign Minister Hirota wrote that mash note to State Secretary Hull. They thought it was too good to be true. They still think so.

You may have noticed that President Roosevelt had nothing to say about the subject. When the matter was broached at a press conference, he failed to recall that there had been an exchange of notes between the Japanese and his state secretary.

Also, Secretary Hull gave out the notes without the usual statement about such things "heralding a new era of peace," etc., etc.

There are reasons why.

* * *

Dates

The Japanese note was handed to Mr. Hull Feb. 27. That was exactly one week before the date set for crowning Japan's choice, Henry Pu Yi, as emperor of Manchukuo.

It did not take Mr. Hull long to catch the trick in that. If he replied before the mock enthronement of Pu Yi, it would look as if he approved. Any reciprocal friendly feeling he expressed for Japan would be interpreted in the light of the Pu Yi coronation.

What Mr. Hull and the rest of the world think about the Manchukuo matter is well known. They have told Japan plenty of times they will not recognize the territory gained by Japanese conquest.

So Mr. Hull slipped the honeyed words of Foreign Minister Hirota in the bottom drawer of his desk, and breathed not a word to a soul.

Two days after the coronation, he wrote his reply. That was exactly nine days after the Hirota note was received. In the reply he was just as nice and just as indefinite as the Japanese foreign minister was.

* * *

Meaning

The truth is President Roosevelt, Mr. Hull et al, would like to see something important arise from the Japanese gesture, but they know it is well nigh impossible.

They fully expect Japan will follow her note with a definite proposal for a bilateral naval agreement sometime within the next few days. They also know they will have to sidestep or reject such a proposal.

All our current naval agreements with Japan include Great Britain. We could not change them without consulting the ex-mistress of the seas.

That was one of the hidden meanings in Mr. Hull's reply. Mr. Hirota intimated Japan would like a talk with the United States alone about Pacific problems. In reply Mr. Hull expressed a hope that "all the countries which have interests in the Far East" might approach the problem together.

The significance of that phrase was obvious to London and Tokio.

* * *

Divergence

Even more important is the fact that we know what the Japanese proposal will be. They want naval equality, not the short end of the 5-3 ratio now existing.

There is no gain for us in agreeing to equality. We are building. Our resources are limitless. Japan has about reached the limit of her taxing ability. An agreement would stop us.

The Japanese also want revision of the law excluding them as immigrants. The state department has a secret office memo on that subject. That memo counsels against reopening the immigration question at this time because congress enacted the law and congress is in no mood to change it. This is a congressional election year. Pacific coast states have some very decided views on Japanese exclusion.

The third thing wanted by the Japanese is recognition of Manchukuo. That is impossible unless we want to take back everything we have said during the past two years.

* * *

Root

The hidden root of the current move is Russo-Japanese relations. The friendly Japanese gesture toward us is probably the best hint that she expects war with the Soviets. The Japanese want us on their side, or at least neutral.

* * *

Air Mail

The army air corps is not taking its mail troubles tragically. They seem to believe their comrades who have died would have been eager to sacrifice thier lives if they could have foreseen the benefits the service may derive.

Particularly they are cheerful about getting away from domination by the army general staff, and getting more appropriations from congress for modernization.

* * *

Notes

Ogden Mills took care to say throughout his New York speech that he was not speaking for the Republican party, but only for himself. That was the result of inner complaints from the congressional group that in a previous speech Mills unwittingly created the impression he was speaking for the party.

The worst pun of the spring season is the one that Col. Lindbergh has been "derned" by the secretary of war.

(Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon)

* * *

By JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, March 24.—Several Republicans who count behind the scenes did some plain talking to Ogden Mills last week. They told him in so many words that his financial assistance in rehabilitating the party would be welcome, that his strictly private advice would get attentive consideration, but that he was OUT —out—as a banner bearer. They gave him definitely to understand that he will get no support from his home town if he does shy his hat into the ring —which just about counts him out as a 1936 prospect.

According to reliable sources the meeting wasn't at all placid. Mills didn't take kindly to the squelching of his pet ambition to lead the elephant back from the wilderness. The idea of serving as a sort of elder statesman didn't have the same appeal. Mills' friends say he may sulk in his tent for a while but will eventually reconcile himself to being a mere member of the general staff instead of commander-in-chief.

The same strong forces which have side-tracked Mills in advance are prepared to resist any attempt to exert party leadership by Herbert Hoover or any other of his former lieutenants.

* * *

Wadsworth

From now on Congressman James W. Wadsworth will be more in the news. His lengthy criticism of the administration published in a New York newspaper last week as rated by insiders as the first audible buzz of a 1936 bee. Conservative inner circles in New York city favor Wadsworth above Ogden Mills although it will be a long time before anyone here comes out for him openly. His potential backers want to test public sentiment by degrees before they commit themselves. Some folks thinks he's the long-sought white hope because of his freedom from Hoover associations. Moreover, although his conservatism is unquestioned, it would be difficult to sustain a charge that he has any tie-up with Wall Street. His political sponsorship hitherto has come from upstate.

The best informed local Republicans frankly doubt that any eastern candidate can be put over. But they see no harm in trying.

* * *

Wheat

The grapevine has it that big-time wheat speculators are indulging in what they think is cakey strategy. Inside reports on wheat prospects are not as bearish as recent price movements would indicate. The answer is that the professionals are trying to hold things down.

Why? On the theory that a nervous and anaemic market will lessen the chances of rigid regulation. New Yorkers who have had recent Washington contact say the boys are outsmarting themselves. They believe the administration is onto the little game and is likely to try to eliminate the professional influence in the grain market as far as possible.

* * *

Communications

Local insiders get word that the foreign interest—and especially the British—in American communications companies is an important factor in the administration's plan to bring these companies under federal control. The British have quietly exerted a good deal of influence on telegraph and cable company policies, which is rated not so good from the self-contained-American viewpoint.

* * *

Telegraph

It's odd to think of Wall Street pulling for any kind of federal regulation but that's just what's wanted by the 51 banks and brokerage houses which are quarreling with Western Union. They have an idea it will get them cheaper and more efficient service. If it doesn't they have a prospective Canadian hookup as an ace in the hole.

Relations between the telegraph companies and the famous 51 have been far from cordial for some time. The banks and brokerage houses have made it a point to keep careful track of the relative amount of business they got from Western Union and Postal and then to allocate their own cable business accordingly. Some of the telegraph people have resented this as a form of unjustifiable pressure but there wasn't much they could do about it.

* * *

Coal

New York hears that the British Mining association has invited representatives of European coal producers to meet in London in the near future.

Prices are to be put on a sensible basis and undue competition regulated by parcelling out definite territories. Poland has been worrying England considerably with cheap coal. Insiders are optimistic as England is prepared to make concessions and doesn't want to add a coal war to her problem of competing with Japanese trade.

* * *

Jigglers

Big professional operators have watched their step carefully since the Fletcher-Rayburn bill was introduced but some of the smaller fry have not been so cautious. In the very shadow of regulation they have jiggled certain issues in a way that has Exchange authorities bothered. Early this week an insider counted thirteen different minor manipulations going on at once—mostly in store stocks.

* * *

Teddy

There's a lot of quiet merriment here at the thought of Teddy Roosevelt in the role of elephant tamer. His new job as president of the national Republican club involves trying to get teamwork between the old guard and the younger element in the party. You hear the comment that he'd better take a few lessons from Frank Buck.

The Sunlit Road

"As dew to the blooms, and bud to the bee, as scent to the rose, are these memories to me."

TOM T. JONES

The eighth and youngest child of Adam and Eliza Laughlin Poe, the former being a son of Andrew Poe, one of the two brothers who engaged Big Foot and a smaller Indian in combat off Tomlinson run on the Ohio river in 1791, Charles Edgar Poe, stood out as a man and citizen of northeastern Ohio in subsequent years. His record was such as to be chronicled in a volume entitled "Representative Citizens of Ohio" which recently came into the possession of James Rineheart of Pennsylvania avenue.

In his day Charles Edgar Poe, grandson of this notable Indian fighter and early settler in what is now West Virginia in or about Hancock county near the Pennsylvania line, stood out by reason of his accomplishments as a soldier, physician, merchant and real estate dealer. He lived in Ravenna and Cleveland. His final years were spent in the Forest City. In the Georgetown, Pa., neighborhood lived for many years relatives of this notable Poe family which emanated to this section of the Ohio valley originally from the country near Frederick, Maryland.

The picture of Charles Edgar Poe, in his later years, revealed him as a man with intellectual features. He was smooth shaven. He had a high forehead and a kindly, intelligent face. He loomed a well-groomed man, one who had attained a prosperous standing in his community.

He was born on January 27, 1840, in the Poe homestead, just west of Ravenna. This was the year in which James Bennett, a young Englishman, was taking the initial steps in East Liverpool, not far from the scene of the Poe-Big Foot fight, for what later evolved into the pottery industry by which the entire locality is now famous the world over.

He was reared in his native community and attended the schools of the rural neighborhood in which he was born. Then he went to those in the village of Ravenna. In time he became a student at the Western Reserve college at Hudson. He thereafter entered the medical department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

* * *

Active In Civil War

He was but 21, in 1861, when the Civil war broke out between the North and the South. He at once offered his services to his country. He enlisted as assistant surgeon in the 43rd Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He began his service with it at Decatur, Ala. He remained with the army until the close of the war.

He was in the battle of Resaca, Ga., and Kenesaw mountain. He was detailed to the hospital at Marietta, Ga. He remained in it until the close of the Atlanta campaign. He went to Chattanooga and Nashville, Tenn., with sick and wounded soldiers following orders which he received on November 8, 1864. Then he took another carload of afflicted men to Newburn, N. C.

He was among those who completed the march to the sea with General William T. Sherman. In that campaign he had charge of a large company of men and drew special praise for his skill and ability during it. He was discharged from the army on June 13, 1865.

He took part in the memorable grand review at Washington at the close of the war between the states. He had the notable record of never again visiting the national capital again until his attendance at the reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic in that city in 1915, following the passing of a half century of time. He was a member of the Cleveland post G. A. R., and also of the Loyal Legion.

When he had finished his career as a soldier, Dr. Poe returned to Ravenna, where he began the practice of his profession. He also engaged in the drug business with his brother, Alvin Poe. He soon sold the drug store, however, and went in for the operation of a dry goods store. This departure he conducted for 22 years. He had a large trade in the town and country.

He was active in the affairs of the community and enjoyed a wide acquaintance. It was in 1889 that he removed to Cleveland. There he initially maintained a hardware store in partnership with a nephew. In a year he sold out his interest and engaged in the real estate business. In this latter activity he was remarkably successful. He continued this line of work until his passing. He ever retained a warm affection for Ravenna, and the people in it during all of his residence in Cleveland.

* * *

All Lived in Ravenna

Six of the Poe brothers, grandsons of Andrew Poe, the intrepid Indian fighter of this immediate locality, were engaged in business in Ravenna, during periods of their lives. They were Andrew, Simpson R., George, William, Alvin and Charles Edgar Poe. The oldest brother, Thomas Poe, was long a business man in Toledo. All of the brothers, it is said, were live factors in the business activities of their communities.

All these grandchildren of Andrew Poe were reared in the faith of the Congregational church, it is related. Their father, Adam Poe, son of the Indian fighter, was a deacon in this church. For many years Charles Edgar Poe was a Republican in politics. After his removal to Cleveland he became a devotee of the principles advocated by Tom Johnson, long the Democratic mayor of the Forest City.

Charles Edgar Poe was married on Feb. 22, 1867, to Mary Louise Spencer, a daughter of Lyman M. Spencer, a farmer of Comstock, N. Y. The members of her family later came to Ravenna to live. Two children were born to them, Della, who succumbed when but two years of age and Mabel E. Poe, who later married Leo Dautel of Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Poe lived together for 48 years until her passing in 1915. He survived until the following year, Jan. 9, 1916. He was then nearly 76.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

East Liverpool ... Wellsville ... Chester ... Newell

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Pauline McVey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McVey of Pennsylvania avenue, and Cecil Flowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Flowers of East Palestine. The ceremony took place Wednesday, March 7, in the parsonage of the United Presbyterian church at New Cumberland, W. Va., with Rev. O. C. Gross officiating.

The atendants included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boice of East Palestine.

The bride was gowned in a blue ensemble with hat to match. Her shoulder corsage was of briarcliffe roses and larkspur. Both the bride and bridegroom were employed with the Homer Laughlin China company, and are now receiving friends in a newly furnished apartment in West Third street.

Miss Irene Dolores Morgan, daughter of Mrs. Leland Allison of Glenmoor, became the bride of Harold Dawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dawson of the East End, on Thursday, March 22. The ceremony took place in the First United Presbyterian church of New Cumberland, W. Va., with Rev. O. C. Gross officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan, cousins of the bride, were the attendants.

The bride was gowned in an ensemble of blue and grey.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents. The bridegroom is employed with the Homer Laughlin China company.

THE PREVAILING PATTERN

WEAR A BOW AND WIN A BEAU
PATTERN 1626
By ANNE ADAMS

Trust smart women to choose this frock as their favorite for afternoon wear—its youthfulness and smartness is so typical of Spring 1934. The bow—large and flowing—introduces a gay note of contrast, it has attractive sleeves set in raglan fashion and smart seamings in both bodice and skirt. A monotone, in one of the delicate pastel shades would be lovely—or a gay, splashy printed silk or crepe, if you've a mind. The bow might be fashioned of satin ribbon, taffeta or organdy. A delightful success if you make it yourself—and it's not at all difficult with the sewing instructor included.

Pattern 1626 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3⅜ yards 39 inch fabric and ¼ yard contrasting.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

THE NEW SPRING, 1934 EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK features all the best Spring styles for adults and children. Send for your copy of this interesting, helpful book and be chic this spring. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to The East Liverpool Review Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York, City.

1934 AUBURNS ARRIVE HERE

New Models Feature Draftless Ventilation System.

Featuring a new draftless ventilation system, controlled at will by the motorist, the new 1934 Auburn models were placed on display here today at the show rooms of the Ohio Motor Sales company in West Fifth street.

The controlled ventilation consists of doubles section front and sliding rear windows. The front windows are split and the forward section may be lowered alone or the entire window may be operated as a unit. Ventilation is obtained by the motion of the car, bringing fresh air through the front windows and forcing stale air and smoke through the rear windows.

The control system is mechanically simple in operation and practically free from jamming or breaking of glass. The new system provides any amount of ventilation desired, and prevents clouding or frosting of the windows.

Other features of the new Auburn include a dual ratio, providing more power with fewer revolutions of the motor, and saving on gas consumption. The dual ratio control lever is located on the steering wheel on the new models, and may be operated with the fingertip.

The 1934 Auburn models come in series of custom straight eights and salon twelves, in a wide variety of body styles and colors, and every car is equipped with the latest Auburn improvements. The new models are attractively and conservatively styled.

Come On You Competitors—

The new 1934 Auburn cars are here—and the public is coming to see, drive, and buy them.

You other car dealers might as well find out right now what Auburn has.

You must compete against the new Auburn because buyers are going to compare your car with Auburn.

You are impressed by the fact that Auburn does not use Knee Action.

You have heard that Auburn cars have a roadability—a smoothness—a steadiness and a riding comfort, combined with a safety and ease of handling, surpassing any and all other 1934 cars.

You have longed to verify reports that Auburn (builder of world's Champion Stock Cars) has for 1934 eclipsed all its previous standards for speed and performance.

Well, here's your opportunity to find out.

We invite you. Bring your retail salesmen, too.

Because your prospective customers are finding out.

Come and get behind the wheel, and see how Auburn accelerates ahead of other cars.

See how Auburn "takes the work out" of driving.

Drive into a curve at 60, 70 or more miles an hour and see how Auburn clings to the road; does not side-sway or lean.

Both in advertising, and by word of mouth, you have asked the public to believe many extremely broad and emphatic claims for the riding qualities of the car you are selling.

And you have driven your car and demonstrated it over rough roads, on turns, etc.

Now we challenge you—

Drive a 1934 Auburn and go over the same route. You will be amazed at the difference, in the way the Auburn handles, and the superior way it performs.

Auburn gives you smooth, comfortable riding ease without "baby buggy" bouncing up and down.

Auburn gives you a steady, secure sense of control and safety at all times.

There is a firmness about Auburn's performance on the road—but no stiffness!

There is a rigidity in Auburn's frame that gives assurance of strength and durability—without hard riding!

We hope you accept this invitation—but whether you do or not, the public is going to find out that every word of this advertisement is true.

And car buyers are going to learn more about the new Auburn—

They are going to be amazed at the economy of Auburn's operation.

And they are going to get the greatest thrill they have ever had in any motor car when they operate Auburn's improved Dual-Ratio—which gives the driver the choice of two different rear axle gear ratios. This proven improvement alone is sufficient to place Auburn far ahead, as the most advanced car on the market.

Car buyers are also going to find out that Auburn offers matchless body comforts, wider seats—more leg room and head room.

And—but come and see for yourself Auburn's many, many improvements and betterments.

THE LIGHT of HIS WORD

Jesus Before Pilate

Jesus' trial before the Jews was a farce. The Jewish law stated, 'two witnesses should bring in exactly the same evidence to indict a prisoner. If this evidence did not coincide exactly, the prisoner should be released.'

The Sanherdrin, that body of seventy-one men who governed, could condemn, but could not execute a criminal. The right of execution was reserved, either with or without a new trial, for the Roman procurator, who was at this time, Pontius Pilate. He had been appointed by Tiberius, as procurator of Judea in the twelfth year of his reign. Pilate's ten years of administration was marked by severity and He was regarded by the Jews as a bad governor.

In the 19th verse of the twenty-seventh chapter of Matthew we find an important insight into the lives of those ancient people. Pilate was attempting to pass judgment on Jesus, when his wife came to him and begged him to have nothing to do with this trial on account of a bad dream she had had.

In order to bring about a trial by the Roman procuator, it was necessary to formulate a charge that merited death under the Roman law. The charge actually preferred by the priests was that of attempted revolution. Pilate convinced himself of the idleness of this charge, attempted to release Jesus but was met with the determination of the priests and mob that He should be crucified. The Sanhedrin then pretended that Jesus was a menance to Pilate for He was proclaiming Himself to be King. To protect himself from accusation by the Roman emperor, Pilate must execute Jesus.

When Pilate realized he could not prevail against this mob, he publicly washed his hands, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this person, see ye to it." This was intended to show his belief that Jesus was being sacrificed to the popular will, and to disclaim all responsibility for His death. Pilate tried to pass on this responsibility to Herod Antipas, who was tetrarch of Galilee at this time, by sending Jesus to him for conviction. After vainly trying to get Jesus to say something to condemn Him for, Herod returned Jesus to Pilate.

Pilate ordered Jesus scourged. In this compromise he thought to pacify the priests and satisfy his own sense of justice. This did not satisfy the Jews. They wanted Him crucified.

Tri-State All-Tournament Teams Make Up Real Basketball 'Who's Who'

Paulsey, Montgomery Only Players Selected Twice.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT, Sports Editor, The Review

An all-tournament team to end all-tournament teams!

That's what would result if the five best players were selected from the list of 35 stars who have been honored with positions on the all-tournament teams of the senior tri-state floor classic, the ninth renewal of which will be held in the high school gym here Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31.

For your center you can take your choice of Lefty Miller, Toney Paulsey, Canfield, Ray Shaffer, Bob Smith, Bud Brownlee or John Tachovsky.

Your forwards can come from the following list: Ed Stump, Buck Burkle, Beeler or Blough of Wooster, McCord, Strauss, Charley Hyatt, Popp, Dave Query, "Sucker" Lowe, Kirk Nelson, Fergus, Alexander, Kocheran, Timmy Lawry and Cliff Aultman.

Thirty-eight Players Have Won Mythical Honors.

For the guards you can have any two of Labor, English, Minehart, P. Orr, Hamill, Richardson, Ferraro, McConahey, Lindsey Montgomery, Cliff Aultman, Rice, Dickerson, or Art Graham.

A resume of the past eight senior tri-state events reveal that only one player, Richardson of Oxford, has made the all-tournament three times. He was selected in 1928, 1929 and 1930.

Three players have made the all-tournament team in two different years. They are: Lindsay Montgomery, with the Louis Hune Confectioners in 1931 and the Scott Undertakers in 1933; Cliff Aultman, with the Hune Confectioners in 1931 and the National Furniture last year; Tony Paulsey, with the Campbell Merchants in 1927 and 1928.

One Team Has Won Championship Two Years.

The center for the mythical all-tournament team selected from the 35 players listed above would most probably be Paulsey, Miller or Brownlee.

Charley Hyatt would be awarded one of the forward berths on most of the selections, but there would be at least 10 nominees for the other post. Narrowing the choice down we would put it between Burkle, Popp, Alexander and Timmy Lawry.

Richardson, through his feat of making the all-tournament team three times, would certainly get one of the guard posts. Rice of Westminster, Lindsay Montgomery of Geneva, McConahey of Wooster, and Minehart would all get plenty of votes for the job as Richardson's running mate.

Only One Local Boy Has Made Mythical Quintet.

Hyatt and Paulsey are the only players who have won the trophies awarded for high point man and most valuable player in the same year. Paulsey turned the trick twice, carrying away both honors in 1927 and 1928. Hyatt accomplished it in 1929.

Only one East Liverpool performer has ever made the all-tournament team, English getting a guard position in 1926, the first year of the event. Incidentally, another local cagers, Firth Smith, is the only performer ever to take down the trophy given the best foul shooter in two years. Firth carried this honor away in 1928 and again in 1931.

WHITE SOX PLACE HOPES IN NEW PLAYERS

Catcher, Pitcher Needed

"Zeke" Bonura, Up From Texas, is Impressive.

This is the twelfth of a series of stories dealing with the 1934 prospects of major league baseball clubs.

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

LOS ANGELES, March 24. — On the ability of new players hinges the chances of the Chicago White Sox to pull out of the second division in the American league pennant race this year.

Manager Lew Fonseca, in his drive to rejuvenate the club, has added strength in every department —a much better organization, he believes, than the one he took charge of two years ago, but hardly a pennant contender.

Infield Is Set

He isn't satisfied with the White Hose. For example he would like very much to get another catcher. And he believes a southpaw pitcher would help out.

But he has a lot of things to be thankful for along with his worries. Fonseca believes Henry "Zeke" Bonura, big, hard-driving hitter from the Texas league will round out one of the best infields in the American league.

With Bonura, who hit .357 last season, at first, Jimmy Dykes at third, Minter Hayes at second and Luke Appling at shortstop and Ralph Kress available for any spot, not to mention the manager himself, Fonseca feels his infield setup is secure.

Some promising pitchers also have come to gladden his heart. And there's Big George Earnshaw, formerly of the Athletics, of those who finished 1933 with the Pale Hose are Ted Lyons, Sam Jones, Whitlow Wyatt, Ed Durham and Milton Gaston, but nowhere in that flock is a portsider.

Behind the plate Fonseca has his troubles, although Harold (Muddy) Ruel, recently acquired, may serve as the steadying influence for the trio of John Pasek from Detroit; Mervin Shea, St. Louis and Morgan Snyder, a youngster up from Topeka, Kas., of the Western league.

Haas Is Worry

Inability of George "Mule" Haas to get into condition added to Fonseca's worries, for the former Athletic star was forced to leave spring camp and go to Arkansas to undergo treatment for rheumatism.

Al Simmons reported in better condition than ever and appears ready to do his usual duty both at the plate and in left field. Supposing Haas will be ready to start the season, the battle for the other outer garden spot, will be a three-way affair between Evar Swanson, speed merchant on the foot paths [illegible] two former Pacific coast leaguers, Bernie Uhalt and Stanley Bordagary.

Pitcher Fired By Connie Mack Hurls Braves to Win Over A's

Dick Barrett Released When Veteran Pilot Saw Him Playing Pro Football.

By The Associated Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24.—Dick Barrett, Boston Braves pitcher, who helped beat the Athletics yesterday, has just learned why Connie Mack let him go. It seems that last fall Connie saw a newsreels of his Mr. "Oliver" playing in the backfield for the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets.

Mack stormed out of the theater, muttering, "any pitcher dumb enough to play professional football has no place on my club," and next morning Barrett was fired.

LOS ANGELES — Whatever was wrong last year with Billy Herman, the Chicago Cubs' second baseman, apparently is not bothering him this season. Herman played holdout on President William Walker, but came to terms and hopped right into action. His fielding has shown none of the unsteadiness of last season, and his hitting is like the kinds he produced in 1932.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla — Babe Ruth never has been one to worry about spring training games and his slugging feats of the current grapefruit league competition have come as a startling surprise. In the New York Yankees' five games Ruth has clouted three homers and a triple, among other safe blows, and nudged in 10 of the Yanks' 36 runs.

SARASOTA, Fla. — The Boston Red Sox have high hopes of leaving all of their bad baseball behind today when they journey to Tampa to engage the Cincinnati Reds. Manager Bucky Harris' veterans looked woefully weak in spots yesterday despite their 14-9 victory over the Newark Bears. Several times the Sox appeared to be trying to hand the game to the Bears, but the International leaguers just refused to take it.

BILOXI, Miss.—The management of the Washington Senators gloated today over the way the rookies stood up under the training season's first taste of major league opposition. Ed Linke and Ray Prim, both youngsters, permitted only seven hits while setting back the Cleveland Indians 5 to 2 yesterday. Cecil Travis, at third, started two double plays.

NEW ORLEANS—The Cleveland Indians' training camp awaited word today of the outcome of a new move in their search for a second baseman —an offer to the Washington club for Buddy Myer, veteran keystone man with the Nationals. The nature of the proposal was not disclosed, but reports are that Washington might be interested in some pitching strength.

TAMPA, Fla.—General Manager Larry MacPhail is looking for another outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds. He visited the Boston Braves' camp at St. Petersburg and the Cardinals at Bradenton, but returned with the information there is nothing doing at the present.

ORLANDO, Fla. — Jimmy Jordan's smooth fielding apparently has won him the Brooklyn Dodgers' shortstop post and Casey Stengel is thinking about converting Linus Frey into an outfielder. Frey hits so well that Stengel is determined to find a place for him in the lineup.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—If history is repeating, the Philadelphia Athletics are on the road to another championship. If not, well—the A's have lost six of their eight Florida flareups thus far and today they oppose the Boston Braves, who licked them 14 to 10 yesterday.

BRADENTON, Fla.—Like the babbling brook, Jess Joseph (Pop) Haines, dean of the Cardinal pitching staff, goes on and on. Jess, who'll turn 41 in July, has been taking things easy in the training camp. And the writers had begun to wonder whether Branch Rickey was kidding them last winter when he told them the old Ohioan still rated very much a "regular." In his first appearance of the season, Jess yesterday went three innings against Rochester and appeared as good as ever.

Buckeyes Hurdle Barrier

O. S. U. Gridders All Pass Exams; Baseball Suffers.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 24. — When Coach Francis A. Schmidt rolls in next Wednesday from Fort Worth, Tex., to take up his duties as Ohio State university football coach, he'll find a squad of 90 that ought to gladden his heart, fortified by the news that 44 out of 45 considered sure varsity material have hurdled the barrier of scholastic eligibility.

But the baseball picture presents a sorrier side to Floyd Stahl, diamond mentor.

The same mails that brought to Line Coach Ernie Godfrey the glad news about his football candidates bore the tidings to Stahl he'll have to scratch to build up a 1934 baseball team. His outfield is wrecked, his captain-catcher is eliminated. Only his pitching staff seems intact.

Godfrey mailed out letters to 90 gridiron hopefuls yesterday inviting them to spring practice next Wednesday.

Academic umpires waved out the entire outer garden of Bobby Colburn, John Prosenjack and Leonard Faurot, last year's regulars. Frank Branson, a utility prospect, missed the textbook third strike, and Captain Henry Larsen, first string catcher, suffered a scholastic spiking.

Jones Trails By Eight Strokes As Golfers Start on Third Day

Horton Smith Sets Pace for Classy Field With 142 Total; Burke, Dudley Tied.

By DILLON GRAHAM, Associated Press Sports Writer.

AUGUSTA, Ga. March 24—Bobby Jones faced a task today that would have tested his smile and courage even in his reigning years as emperor of golf, that of overtaking professional rivals who hold advantages of from one to eight strokes.

With half the Masters invitation battle done, Jones finds himself no better than 28th position, far from the leading Horton Smith and below most of his professional opponents of former days.

Erratic putting in the opening rounds sent Jones' scores high, offset his fine play through the fairways and forced him to post rounds of 76-74—150.

Excluding his performances around the green, Bobby's "comeback" has been successful for his long game has been near perfect, but inability to regain his former putting stroke and the consequent errors have all but pushed him out of the running. Horton Smith, the youngster who gave Bobby his last defeat in the spring of 1930 before the "grand slam" march was on, played par closely yesterday for a 72 after his opening 70 for a two-round total of 142, and a stroke lead over the field.

Bill Burke, Jones' successor as the United States Open champion in 1931, and Big Ed Dudley, whose 69 was yesterday's low score, were tied at 143. The veteran MacDonald Smith with a couple of younger stars, Jimmy Hines and Ralph Stonehouse were together at 144.

Within easy distance were four strong threats at 145, Leo Diegel, Paul Runyan, Craig Wood and Al Espinosa, while Denny Shute, the British Open champion from Philadelphia, is only a stroke further removed.

It still was anyone's tournament, for 20 professionals were within five shots of each other, and prospects were for a wide open battle down the stretch.

Florists Edged At Toronto

Lose in Two Overtime Periods, 22-to-21.

After staging a fourth-quarter rally to deadlock the count, 16-16, at the end of the regulation playing time, the Willis Brothers Flowers of Salineville were eliminated in two overtime periods from the Toronto independent basketball tournament Friday night by Tarr's A. G. A. of Mingo, 22-21.

Heimie's Cigars, an East Liverpool entry, was crushed by the Happy's Confectionery quint of Toronto, 41-4. Mike's Billiards of East Palestine appeared to be one of the strongest teams in the tournament as they eliminated the Lion Tailors of Akron, 28-24. A fourth Columbiana county team, Mullin's Foremen of Salem, dropped a 27-18 verdict to the Manufacturers' Light & Heat club of Steubenville.

Seven of the 15 teams in the tourney were eliminated last night. The event will be concluded tonight.

The Salineville club trailed 9-3 at the end of the first quarter and 11-6 at half-time. They were still behind 14-8 at the three-quarter mark, but outscored the Mingo club, 8-2 in the final period to tie the count.

Each team gathered four points in the first extra period. Woodward Smith and Baker of the Florists were banished via the four-foul route.

Salineville made only seven of 18 foul shots, while the winners converted 10 of 19 charity tosses to take the verdict. Lineups:

"PIN BUSTERS" AFTER RECORDS

By The Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., March 24.—"Pin busters" from all sections of the middle-west and east descended upon the 34th annual American Bowling congress today in an attempt to surmount the dizzy totals now leading the tournament.

Jerro Vidro, Grand Rapids, Mich., was the outstanding kegler yesterday. He became the new individual leader with 721 pins. Gregg Griffo, Syracuse, took third in the singles with 702. Vic Giromini and Frank Vivignale, Syracuse, produced the only change in the doubles when they took second place with 1,257.

LEGION PLANS BASEBALL TEAM

James and Ed Woods will manage the East Palestine American Legion junior baseball team this year, it was announced today. The club will be one of six expected to compete for the Columbiana county championship.

If suitable grounds can be secured an effort will be made to bring the district tournament to East Palestine. Other county towns expected to sponsor teams are East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem, Columbiana and Leetonia.

PREDICTS COOL SUMMER

GROTON, Conn.—A moist finger told Irving H. Poppe that it will be a "rather wet and cool summer."

He figured that the vernal equinox occurred at 2:28 a. m. Wednesday and that the wind prevailing at that time should prevail for six months.

So he had a policeman raise a wet finger at the crucial moment. It dried quickest on the northeast side.

BASEBALL RESULTS

FLOOR CHAMPS GET TROPHIES

By The Associated Press.

DELAWARE, O., March 24.—Gold basketballs, emblematic of the Buckeye Athletic association championship, were presented to members of this year's Ohio Weslyan squad today.

The spheroids are dangling from the watch chains of the following men:

Clarence Hendricks of Findlay, Harry Youtt of Bellmore, N. Y., John Turley, of Delaware, Ernie Talos of Cleveland, Don Mewhort of Toledo, Myron Prech of Cleveland, Howard Stammler of Columbus, Clovis Stark of Coloumbus, Coach Ray Detrick, and Manager George McMillen of Cambridge.

Rogers

Mayor H. D. Cope, Rev. T. J. Maxwell and Professor A. A. Galbreath attended a luncheon, and the afternoon program for the laying of the cornerstone of the municipal building in East Liverpool Wednesday.

The time for Sunday night services at the Methodist Episcopal church has been changed from 7:30 to 8. The local church service alternates with East Fairfield in morning and evening worship. Sunday, March 25, Rogers will have the evening service, preceded by Epworth League meeting at 7.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Raley, and Miss Alzada McDonald were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickey, East Liverpool Sunday.

Herbert Shaffer is ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. John Young is confined to bed with a severe cold.

Wilton Frankenberg of Cleveland is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Frankenberg.

Baltzer Young who was 93 last November, has been ill for several days.

Mrs. Abbie Burson and her sister, Mrs. Dorothea Todd were guests at a dinner given in honor of Mrs. Mary Carter, widow of the late Dr. Marion Carter of New Waterford, the occasion being her 89th birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Myrtle Cope of Lisbon spent Monday with Mayor and Mrs. H. D. Cope.

Mrs. H. W. Morlan, and daughter, Miss Geraldine, Mrs. S. G. Hepburn, and Richie Hepburn were shopping in East Liverpool Wednesday.

Word has been received by friends here of the illness of Mrs. Cyrus Crofts of Canton, Mrs. Crofts will be remembered as Miss Maggie Tullis.

Shippingport

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Weaver and daughter, Mary Jane, were recent East Liverpool callers.

Mrs. Florence Cook has returned to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Catherine Hanley after spending a few weeks at her home in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Allison and children and Mrs. Eugene Russel shopped at East Liverpool recently.

Charles McFadden of Pittsburgh spent the week-end with relatives here.

Dale Marker is recovering from a tonsil operation at his home here.

William Carey, salesman, of Pittsburgh was a business caller here Wednesday.

TWO TEAMS IN TIE FOR LEAD

The Service and Coke plant teams went into a tie for the lead in the Midland Crucible basketball league by registering victories Friday night. The Service quint trounced the Open Hearth, 40-25, and the Coke plant nosed out the Finishing Mills, 31-29.

In a third tilt, the Open Hearth cagers were handed a 36-20 beating by the Rochester high school varsity.

RECORD BREAKER

By setting two new world's swimming records, Lenore Knight of Homestead, Pa., becomes the holder of no less than five world marks. She shattered 440 and 500 yards free-style events at Boston, while she already had the 300 yards, 500 meters and 800 meters records.

DOUBLE FLOWER IS PERFECTED

PHILADELPHIA—A double nasturtium that "looks like an azalea and ranges in color from lemon yellow to scarlet," has been developed here.

It was created by David Burpee, head of a large seed company. Burpee has continued the work of Luther Burbank in developing new varieties of plants.

The new flowers have attracted considerable attention at the recent local flower shows, where they have been called "the poor man's orchid."

Hammondsville

Rev. J. J. Adams of Irondale visited his mother in Shelby recently. She is seriously ill due to a recent fall.

Mrs. Carles Boyles, who is suffering foot injuries received sometime ago, is improving.

Ralph Welsh was an East Liverpool business visitor, Thursday.

Rev. H. W. Middelton of Georges Run, a former local pastor, called on friends here, Wednesday.

Walter Nightengale, who suffered a relapse several days ago is improving.

Mrs. O. H. Mauneaux and son Nelson spent Thursday with the former's parents at Cream City.

Gale Cronin, who has been suffering an attack of rheumatism for the past six weeks, is improving.

GUNMAN FLEES FROM SPANKING

DENVER—When a youthful thug attempted to hold up Mrs. A. L. Clarkson, of Denver, she knocked his gun out of his hand and lectured him roundly on the error of his ways.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself—a big, strong fellow like you—trying to hold up poor women who haven't any money," she said.

"Now get away from here and get away quick, before I take you over my knee and spank you."

The bandit picked up his gun and fled.

Abandoned Mines Are Sealed by CWA Workers

ATHENS—A total of 195 abandoned mines have been sealed by 130 CWA workers in Athens, Meigs, Vinton, Hocking and Morgan counties, according to R. M. Edgar, district supervisor. Field surveys are under way in preparation for additional mine closings in Perry, Lawrence, Galia and Jackson counties. Poisoned water discharged from the old workings has been found to seriously damage steel construction of river steamers, bridges and dams, in addition to livestock.

BRILLIANT START

Although it is her first appearance in a competition, Miss Charlotte Glutting, of South Orange, N. J., carded a splendid 79 to win the qualifying medal in the Women's North and South Golf Championship at Pinehurst, N. C. She is shown driving off.

STOCK MARKET SPIRIT BETTER

Transfers During Morning Totaled 650,000 Shares.

By VICTOR EUBANK,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Stock market sentiment improved today as further reports from Washington indicated hopes of a compromise in the automobile labor controversy. Led by the motors, many issues recovered fractions to a point or more in relatively quiet trading. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares.

While waiting for some announcement from Washington on the automobile strike negotiations, market observers drew considerable cheer from business and industrial news.

Reports from the construction field indicated that activity in this line picked up sharply in the first half of March with building contract awards coming within 4 per cent of the entire February volume During this period, the contracted volume amounted to more than $92,000,000 compared with about $29,000,000 in the same 1933 days.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the Board of County Commissioners of Columbiana County, in Lisbon, Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon Eastern Standard Time of April 2nd, 1934, for the purchase of bonds of said County, in the aggregate amount of One Hundred Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($115,000.00), dated the 1st day of December, 1933, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent, per annum, payable semi-annually, issued for the purpose of Emergency Poor Relief, and under authority of the laws of Ohio, and of Section 2 of Amended Section Bill 4 enacted by the Eighty-ninth General Assembly in the First Special Session, as amended by Senate Bill 2 of the second special session as amended by Senate Bill 63 passed as an emergency measure February 14th, 1933, as amended by House Bill 7 passed by the Special Session of the Ninetieth General Assembly, and as amended by Amended Senate Bill No. 49 passed August 22rd, 1933, and also pursuant to House Bill No. 4 passed August 22nd, 1933, and also pursuant to House Bill No. 5 passed August 18th, 1933, and as amended by Amended Senate Bill No. 252 passed September 19th, 1933, and pursuant to House Bill 7 enacted by the General Assembly December 21st, 1933, and approved December 22nd, 1933, and as amended by House Bill No. 42 of the Second Special Session of the Ninetieth General Assembly, and all applicable sections of the Uniform Bond Act of Ohio of the General Code of Ohio, and under and in accordance with a certain Resolution of the Board of County Commissioners of said County, entitled: Resolution to Issue Bonds Without a Vote of the People for Emergency Poor Relief passed on the 5th day of March, 1934.

Said bonds are of the denomination and mature, respectively, as follows:

Bonds Nos. 1 to 21 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Sept. 1, 1934.

Bond No. 22, $600.00, mature Sept. 1, 1934.

Bonds Nos. 23 to 44 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Mar. 1, 1935.

Bond No. 45, $300.00, mature Mar. 1, 1935.

Bonds Nos. 46 to 68 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Sept. 1, 1935.

Bonds Nos. 69 to 91 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Mar. 1, 1936.

Bond No. 92, $700.00, mature Mar. 1, 1936.

Bonds Nos. 93 to 116 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Sept. 1, 1936.

Bond No. 117, $400.00, mature Sept. 1, 1936.

Any one desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than specified in the advertisement, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one-quarter of 1 per cent or multiples thereof.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder at the time and place above mentioned, at not less than par and accrued interest.

Bids may be made upon all or any number of bonds of this issue.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check drawn on a solvent bank located in Columbiana County, Ohio, in favor of the board of county commissioners of Columbiana County, Ohio, in the sum of five per cent of the proposed purchase.

The Board of County Commissioners of said County reserves the privilege to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Emergency Poor Relief Bonds."

STOCK MARKET SPIRIT BETTER

Transfers During Morning Totaled 650,000 Shares.

By VICTOR EUBANK,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Stock market sentiment improved today as further reports from Washington indicated hopes of a compromise in the automobile labor controversy. Led by the motors, many issues recovered fractions to a point or more in relatively quiet trading. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 650,000 shares.

While waiting for some announcement from Washington on the automobile strike negotiations, market observers drew considerable cheer from business and industrial news.

Reports from the construction field indicated that activity in this line picked up sharply in the first half of March with building contract awards coming within 4 per cent of the entire February volume During this period, the contracted volume amounted to more than $92,000,000 compared with about $29,000,000 in the same 1933 days.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS.
SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the Board of County Commissioners of Columbiana County, in Lisbon, Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon Eastern Standard Time of April 2nd, 1934, for the purchase of bonds of said County, in the aggregate amount of One Hundred Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($115,000.00), dated the 1st day of December, 1933, and bearing interest at the rate of six per cent, per annum, payable semi-annually, issued for the purpose of Emergency Poor Relief, and under authority of the laws of Ohio, and of Section 2 of Amended Section Bill 4 enacted by the Eighty-ninth General Assembly in the First Special Session, as amended by Senate Bill 2 of the second special session as amended by Senate Bill 63 passed as an emergency measure February 14th, 1933, as amended by House Bill 7 passed, by the Special Session of the Ninetieth General Assembly, and as amended by Amended Senate Bill No. 49 passed August 23rd, 1933, and also pursuant to House Bill No. 4 passed August 22nd, 1933, and also pursuant to House Bill No. 5 passed August 18th, 1933, and as amended by Amended Senate Bill No. 252 passed September 19th, 1933, and pursuant to House Bill 7 enacted by the Special Assembly December 21st, 1933, and approved December 22nd, 1933, and as amended by House Bill No. 42 of the Second Special Session of the Ninetieth General Assembly, and all applicable sections of the Uniform Bond Act of Ohio of the General Code of Ohio, and under and in accordance with a certain Resolution of the Board of County Commissioners of said County, entitled: Resolution to Issue Bonds Without a Vote of the People for Emergency Poor Relief passed on the 5th day of March, 1934.

Said bonds are of the denomination and mature, respectively, as follows:

Bonds Nos. 1 to 21 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Sept. 1, 1934.

Bond No. 22, $600.00, mature Sept. 1, 1934.

Bonds Nos. 23 to 44 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Mar. 1, 1935.

Bond No. 45, $300.00, mature Mar. 1, 1935.

Bonds Nos. 46 to 68 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Sept. 1, 1935.

Bonds Nos. 69 to 91 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Mar. 1, 1936.

Bond No. 92, $700.00, mature Mar. 1, 1936.

Bonds Nos. 93 to 116 inclusive, $1,000.00 each, mature Sept. 1, 1936.

Bond No. 117, $400.00, mature Sept. 1, 1936.

Any one desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than specified in the advertisement, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid such fraction shall be one-quarter of 1 per cent or multiples thereof.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder at the time and place above mentioned, at not less than par and accrued interest.

Bids may be made upon all or any number of bonds of this issue.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery.

All bids must be accompanied by a certified check drawn on a solvent bank located in Columbiana County, Ohio, in favor of the board of county commissioners of Columbiana County, Ohio, in the sum of five per cent of the proposed purchase.

The Board of County Commissioners of said County reserves the privilege to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bids for Emergency Poor Relief Bonds."

Board of County Commissioners of Columbiana County, Ohio, March 8th, 1934.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Serial by Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, explorer in the wilds of Yucatan searching for Bill Langton, missing aviator, just has found the girl he loves, Janice Kent the movie star, imprisoned at the top of a Mayan pyramid. She, with a party from Hollywood, has come into the jungle to make a Mexican picture, and has fallen into the hands of the sublevados.

Chapter 28.

THE ESCAPE

"Can't tell how many of these people are about," Frank went on. "Come. We have just enough time to get into the jungle before daylight."

"I'm tired." Her whisper was faint with fatigue. Grahame realized that since dawn she had probably been awake.

Grahame examined her bonds. They were tied intricately, but loosely enough not to constrict the flesh. She had free movement of her limbs, but the ropes were cunningly arranged to prevent any major activity.

Grahame drew his clasp-knife, and made short work of the throngs.

Janice sat erect and placed her feet upon the floor. She was dressed as he had seen her that morning, in coat, breeches and puttees.

"Come," he said, "we'll go now."

"Wait," she answered. "We can't leave Mr. Greene. He's here somewhere. He was wounded a week ago and today they hit him—"

"I know. But I'm afraid we can't take him this trip. Perhaps you don't realize, but we're in a dangerous position. We have a thousand-to-one chance of getting—"

"You don't understand," she said weakly. "I will not leave here without him."

Grahame had a curious sense of anger. Some of the old hurt she had dealt him revived. It seemed that in every situation this girl was to thwart him.

"Does Greene mean so much to you then that—"

"Naturally." Her tone was final with its simplicity.

Grahame's nod was almost a bow of submission. He slipped into the corridor. He glanced at the still figures of the guards; they would be unconscious for sometime yet, he decided.

Greene was asleep when he found him. Grahame worried, for an instant, that the man's slight snore betrayed a concussion resulting from the blow he had received. But as the keen blade cut into the ropes, Greene started up with a fury that while it reassured the other, nearly sent him off balance.

First, they must have food and rest.

"Easy, man!" he cautioned. "Sh-h-h-h."

Grahame turned his head and found Janice just behind him.

"I think," she said, "I heard noises of some kind. They seemed far away."

"From below," answered Grahame. "Noise floats upward. It's about time the city below is awakening. We have no time to lose."

They stole into the corridor, made the turn past the burning receptacle, and out before the great stone altar. It was then that Grahame made the discovery that about the base was heaped many kinds of food, chiefly cereals and meats, some raw, some cooked.

It was the odor of these foods that had accentuated his sense of hunger. He grasped great handfuls and stuffed them into the wide slits of his khaki coat. He felt immensely cheered.

"A break for us," he whispered.

Janice smiled wanly. Greene was looking about him with the utmost curiosity, and, it seemed to Grahame, with a little dismay. Grahame remembered that the man had been carried to this height while unconscious.

It spoke volumes in praise for Mr. Greene's poise that his expression betrayed so little consternation.

They began the descent, with the eastern sky splitting into streaks of saffron. Grahame led the way, with Janice following, and Greene bringing up the rear. Greene moved slowly, his fingers gripping at the rough stone steps with the nervous anxiety of a man unaccustomed to height.

They skirted the rocky ledge about the pit. Janice gazed at its sullen depths with frank wonderment, while Mr. Greene, after one quick glance, averted his eyes and stumbled after them with quickened pace.

They reached Grahame's hiding place, breathless from their haste, and paused.

"I think," observed Grahame, "that it would be safer to keep on for a mile, until we are well into the stony country just below. We can double back and hide in the small ruin." He gestured with his arm.

They continued onward. After a little while Grahame bore to the right, returning in a rough circle to the rear of the ruin. There was another entrance on that side, quite overgrown.

They climbed over the rubbish that had fallen between the portals, and found themselves within a large chamber. A portion of the roof had crumbled inward, making a center pile of stone blocks.

The sky through the roof's gap was orange with dawn. Other parts of the room seemed weather tight. The curious V-arched bracing, without keystones, which was unique with an extinct race of Maya builders, was apparently intact and would stand for further centuries.

Grahame divested himself of his coat, and produced his food supply. Each seemed conscious of the most vital business in hand. First of all they must have food and rest. Later they could discuss their circumstances, and the events that had brought them together in this ominous situation.

They consumed their meal in silence. Greene rolled his last bit of meat in a fragment of tortilla and remarked that he could do with a glass of beer, a large one preferably, but lacking that, a half a gallon of spring water would do.

The other man looked at him sardonically.

"When the Governor of North Carolina made his classic remark to his political neighbor," Frank observed, "he surely had Yucatan in mind. With luck we'll get a little water about four o'clock this afternoon, when it rains. The wider you can stretch your mouth the more you'll get."

Mr. Greene looked a trace disconcerted.

"I don't like you," he said, and resting his head against a stone, he slept.

But Janice and Grahame had too much to discuss for sleep. He avoided most carefully any mention of their last interview in Hollywood. He gave as his sole reason for coming to this country his conviction that his friend, the lost flier Langton, had fallen somewhere within this jungle.

R. H. RENCH TO ADDRESS ROTARY

Midland Service Organization Will Hear G. E. Official at Thursday Dinner Meeting.

R. H. Rench, of the Pittsburgh office of the General Electric company, will speak on "The Past, The Present and the Future of Electricity," before the Midland Rotary club on Thursday night, March 29, in the social rooms of the First Presbyterian church.

Mr. Rench is being brought to Midland by John W. Leming, head of the Steel City office of the Duquesne Light company. The dinner will be served by the Women's society of the Presbyterian church.

ATHLETE BREAKS CROWBAR

WASHINGTON, Pa. — What Charlie Armstrong, Washington & Jefferson's 240 pound gridiron tackle, would do to a tennis racquet causes shudders on the W. & J. campus.

Working on the college's new tennis courts yesterday, he heaved so manfully that he broke the school's only crowbar.

LIST SERVICES FOR HOLY WEEK

Pre-Easter Campaign Will be Conducted in Emmanuel Presbyterian Church.

Pre-Easter services will be held in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park boulevard, starting Monday night at 7:30 and closing with a service Friday night. Ministers who will preach include Revs. William F. McKee, J. T. Vorhis, B. H. Shadduck, S. W. Young and J. H. Lawther. Special music will be provided by church groups and visiting musicians.

The church session will meet after the Friday night service to receive new members. The public reception wil be held Easter Sunday morning.

DOG OWNER ASKS $1,000 DAMAGES

CHICAGO, March 24. — Mrs. Marie Field filed suit for $1,000 for damage to the health of her dog, "Choo-Choo."

She alleged Hyman Cohen "dognaped" Choo-Choo sending the animal to St. Louis. She produced Choo-Choo in court with head bandaged, coat matted and eyes weak as alleged evidence of mistreatment.

Trial was set for April 12.

"WOODCHOPPER" OF RADIO FAME WILL APPEAR IN CITY

WLS Star Booked At Ceramic Theater, March 30-31.

One of radio's most colorful personalities will make a personal appearance at the Ceramic theater on Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31, when the "Arkansas Woodchopper" from WLS, the prairie-farmer station at Chicago, brings his sounds of the great southwest to the Fourth street playhouse.

The "Woodchopper" whose personality has been felt so keenly over the air makes a novel theater attraction. His cowboy songs are the result of several years' devotion to collecting them, and as far as can be determined, most of them have never been published. They are typical of the tunes and lyrics sung by the original cowboys of the west and southwest and are as much a part of musical folklore to America as bagpipes are to Scotland.

The "Arkansas Woodchopper" has broadcast over 30 stations, always avalanching the station with fan mail from listeners who found this exponent of unusual songs well-worth writing about.

He is featured on the WLS National Barn Dance programs and many others from the same station. Since last October he has been touring with the WLS barn dance show unit, acting as master of ceremonies, beside doing his regular stage act, which includes songs, guitar playing and fiddling.

The entire barn dance unit of 24 persons will be at the Ceramic with the "Woodchopper."

KIDNAP STORY, ON COLUMBIA SCREEN, STARS BABY LE ROY

"Miss Fane's Baby is Stolen" Opens Engagement Here Friday.

Bringing to the screen for the first time in motion picture history the dread terror that has swept the nation, coincident with the kidnaping of children, "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen" opened Friday at the Ceramic theater.

A glamorous mother's terror was pictured through the eyes of alluring Dorothea Wieck, portraying a Hollywood actress, whose child, Baby LeRoy, is torn from her.

Alice Brady, co-starred with Miss Wieck, stands out as a dramatic character in the cast of thirty famous players, enacting the role of the heroic farm woman who suddenly finds herself confronted by a trio of ruthless kidnapers.

Jack LaRue, Dorothea Burgess and Alan Hale are the kidnapers against whom Miss Brady finds herself pitted in a gallant attempt to save Baby LeRoy from death.

William Frawley, George Barbier and little George "Spanky" McFarland have important parts in the gripping picturization of a nation's bewilderment over the "kidnaping of the century."

STATE

Fox Film's latest release, "Coming Out Party," which makes its appearance on the screen of the State theater Sunday is a film that reveals what actually goes on behind the scenes of a debutante's launching.

One of the season's debutantes is being prepared for her social premiere. While preparations are being made for her party, she slips away to keep a secret appointment with the man she loves, a young violinist. Through a mis-understanding, the lovers quarrel, and the girl goes to his apartment to explain. Their differences are soon forgotten in warm reconciliation.

Returning from Chicago, the young man arrives at the coming out party, and informs the girl that he must leave for Europe on a concert tour. Although she realizes that she must get married immediately, the girl agrees to await his return the fololwing year. The butler, who is familiar with her desperate situation, hastens to the boat to prevent the young man from sailing. They both return in time to prevent the young girl from announcing her marriage to a wealthy young man. Against the objections of her parents, the lovers marry.

Frances Dee and Gene Raymond portray the romantic leads, while the other members of the important cast are Alison Skipworth, Nigel Bruce, Harry Green, Gilbert Emery, Marjorie Gateson, Clifford Jones, Jessie Ralph and Germaine de Neel.

AMERICAN

"Fog," one of the most popular mystery novels of the past year, has reached the talking picture screen.

The Valentine Williams, Dorothy Rice Sims yarn which ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post recently, has been filmed by Columbia Studios, and will open Sunday at the American theater.

Laid entirely on board a transatlantic liner at sea, the story starts with the murder of an eccentric millionaire. A mystic crystal-gazing seeress next dies, and the ship's doctor is the third to meet a like fate. There are a half-dozen possible suspects, and the solving of the mystery and the apprehending of the real criminal, and his motive for the killings, form an intensely interesting and absorbing drama.

In screen form, it is proving to be as entertaining as it was in print. The cast is headed by Mary Brian, Donald Cook and Reginald Denny, with a supporting roster of players that numbers over a dozen of the best character actors in Hollywood.

CERAMIC

A tale of thrilling adventure with colorful romance comes to the screen of the Ceramic theater Sunday with the First National picture, "Mandalay."

It is set in the picturesque background of the Orient, in that section of Burma where the whites come in contact with the natives. The romance does not concern Orientals, however, though there are many of them appearing in the production, but the white man, and particularly that breed of soldier of fortune who turns to gun running, traffic in women and other illicit trades.

The theme concerns a beautiful Russian girl, an exile from her own country, who is sold into virtual slavery to a resort keeper by her own lover. Her escape on a boat to Mandalay and her pursuit entails some of the most thrilling action in the picture. Colorful scenes take place in the night club resort which is patronized by civil and army officers, travelers or any of the whites who have the necessary money to spend, and aboard a boat on the Irawadi river where the principal characters meet again in conflict and romance.

There is an unusually strong cast which includes such players as Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Warner Oland and Lyle Talbot in the featured roles. There is a long list of talented players among the members of the supporting cast, some of whom are Ruth Donnelly, Reginald Owen, Hobart Cavanaugh, David Torrence, Rafaela Ottiana, Etienne Girardot, Lucien Littlefield, Bodil Rosing and Herman Bing.

Miss Helen Huff left today to attend "Sorority Week End" at West Liberty college, as a guest of Miss Dolores Merge.

Mrs. Harry Pittenger of near Pughtown, who has been suffering from pleuro-pneumonia was removed to the City hospital in East Liverpool Tuesday.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist Protestant church will give an entertainment and social at the church Thursday night. All Endeavor members of the county have been invited to attend.

Your Health

By Dr. R. S. Copeland.

For generations the presence of blood in the sputum was interpreted as a sign of the "white plague," or "consumption." This alarming sign was called "hemoptysis" as a sign of great significance, but not necessarily as a symptom of tuberculosis. Many persons are unduly alarmed by the sight of blood in the sputum. They fear they have tuberculosis and too often and unwisely keep to themselves knowledge of the experience.

I knew a man who for many months noticed blood in his sputum. He feared to consult a physician. He thought he had tuberculosis and did not want to be told he must discontinue his work. You can imagine his joy when on a regular visit to his dentist, a rough tooth was found to be cutting his mouth and that was the cause of the blood in the sputum.

Traced to Many Minor Troubles

This symptom can often be traced to minor troubles like a slight scratch or erosion in the throat. It is common in the sputum of sufferers from chronic bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma and other afflictions that involve the lungs. It is also encountered in sore and inflamed throats, inflamed tonsils, and in pharyngitis or laryngitis.

It is true that hemoptysis is a common symptom in tuberculosis. But not by any means does blood in the sputum always mean tuberculosis. Of course, it should never be considered as a trivial matter, and every effort should be made to find and correct the underlying cause.

If you have this symptom do not jump at the conclusion you have tuberculosis, but set your mind at rest by getting at the truth. Consult with your physician who will take the necessary steps to relieve the trouble, whatever it may be. When there are no other evidences of illness tuberculosis is very likely to be the last of what might ail you. In that disease fatigue, loss of weight, night sweats and persistent cough are found.

Don't Delay Through Fear

When these other symptoms are present, definite tests are made to confirm or disprove the diagnosis of tuberculosis. Perhaps the most reliable of all is the sputum test. In this, the sputum is examined for the germs of tuberculosis. Repeated tests may be necessary. An X-ray examination of the lungs will aid in making the diagnosis.

Early recognition of this disease means early recovery. Complete cure is possible when prompt diagnosis of the disease is made.

Too often constitutional defects are overlooked or neglected because of thoughtlessness or carelessness. If you have any doubt or are worried about some abnormality, consult with your physician.

REVIVALS WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

The two weeks of special services in the Midland Methodist Episcopal church will close tonight when Rev. Frederick J. Lenk of the Second United Presbyterian church here will give a message in song. The pastor, Rev. Robert Laing, will also preach, bringing the closing message.

A good advance ticket sale has been reported for the presentation of the drama, "Crucifixion," in the Midland High school auditorium Tuesday night, March 27, under auspices of the Midland M. E. church.

Clarkson

The condition of Miss March who was seriously ill a few days ago, remains about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Warrick of Columbiana, were recent guests at the home of Mr. Warrick's parents, Postmaster and Mrs. Clem V. Warrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Thompson were business visitors this week at Lisbon.

CHURCH GROUP PLANS CANVASS

St. John's Women to Make Visitation Here Sunday.

A class of 13 junior catechumens will be examined at the 10:45 a. m. service Sunday in the St. John's Lutheran church in West Third street. The class has been under the instruction of Rev. F. Epping Reinartz, pastor of the church, since last October.

OVER A COAST-TO-COAST NET WORK
In A Public Lecture On WORLD CONTROL

Millions of American citizens have petitioned Congress to keep him on the air. He is the ONE man who has challenged the combined clergy of the world to public debate that the people may hear truths which vitally concern them.

Why are all nations in distress and perplexity, and the people beset by doubts and fears? Is there hope for better conditions? What can the people do to relieve their distress and brighten their hope? Who will rule and control the world in the future? These and many like questions will be answered to your real satisfaction. Conclusive proof will be submitted showing that there is every reason for the people to hope for better things. No man is better qualified to answer these questions than JUDGE RUTHERFORD.
